In Glory Shone the Holy One

1 In glo-ry shone the Ho-ly One, The Fa-ther's
2 On Him this won-drous deed was wrought When Pe-ter, 3 His hid-den glo-ry did ap-pear And filled the 4 There Mo-ses and E-li-jah stood, Who spake the sole-be-got-ten Son, Whose ra-diant face and rai-ment

James, and John He brought Un-to the ho-ly moun-tain's men with ho-ly fear As they with mor-tal eyes be-Word as they were moved By God's own Spir-it, Light di-bright Gave forth on earth His heav'n-ly light.

height, There to be-hold the glo-rious sight.
held The light by dark-ness nev-er quelled.
vine, That on us men His Word— might shine.

5 Then did the brilliant cloud descend
  Which darkness cannot comprehend
  And veiled the Savior in that light
  Which hath no end and knows no night.

6 From thence the Father's voice came down:
  This Man is My beloved Son
  With whom I am well pleased indeed,
  So hear His voice, His teaching heed.

7 Then all was back as it had been
  And Christ they saw alone again
  Who said, To none the vision tell
  Till I have conquered death and hell.

8 Though hidden now from mortal eyes,
  His light among us brightly shines
  As through the Apostolic Word
  It beams on all who've gladly heard.

In Glory Shone the Holy One

Christopher J. Neuendorf, 2016 8.8.8.8. WO GOTT ZUM HAUS

Geistliche Lieder, Wittenberg, 1535

1 In glo-ry shone the Ho-ly One, The Fa-ther's
2 On Him this won-drous deed was wrought, When Pe-ter, 3 His hid-den glo-ry did ap-pear, And filled the 4 There Mo-ses and E-li-jah stood, Who spake the

sole-be-got-ten Son, Whose ra-diant face and rai-ment
James, and John He brought Un-to the ho-ly moun-tain's men with mor-tal fear As they with ho-ly eyes be-Word as they were moved By God's own Spir-it, Light di-

bright Gave forth on earth His heav'n-ly light.
height, There to be-hold the glo-rious sight.
held The light by dark-ness nev-er quelled.
vine, That on us men His Word might shine.

5 Then did the brilliant cloud descend
Which darkness cannot comprehend
And veiled the Savior in that light
Which hath no end and knows no night.

6 From thence the Father's voice came down:
This Man is My beloved Son
With whom I am well pleased indeed,
So hear His voice, His teaching heed.

7 Then all was back as it had been
And Christ they saw alone again
Who said, To none the vision tell
Till I have conquered death and hell.

8 Though hidden now from mortal eyes,
His light among us brightly shines
As through the Apostolic Word
It beams on all who've gladly heard.